Quartz Collection

Quartz surfaces were pioneered by Caesarstone in 1987, applying patented cutting-edge technologies that stand to this day. We leverage the outstanding qualities of quartz, making it the ideal stone for residential and commercial spaces, as the surface of choice for architects and designers worldwide.

Quartz countertops are the hardest stone surfaces, made from naturally occurring minerals that are one of the hardest (7 on the Mohs Scale of 10). Caesarstone uses up to 90% of the purest quartz particles, molded with resins and pigments to make the most resilient surfaces on the market.

Quartz enables great flexibility in surface design, combining timeless beauty with durability in robust patterns, various finishes, and rich colors. Caesarstone's passion for design is a core value that drives us to constantly push forward the boundaries of quartz countertops.

Our quartz countertops are produced in a strictly controlled environment to meet the most stringent safety standards in both manufacturing and finished product. Our countertops have everything a good surface needs; they are nonporous, non-toxic, require no sealants or wax to retain the Caesarstone Hygiene Standard, do not host bacteria, mold, or mildew - remaining safe and hygienic for ultimate cleanliness.
